

MISSION

The Center promotes high quality research and education on corporate governance issues in Asia and China. Drawing from the fields of accounting, economics, and finance, the Center's research aims to address how Asia's various institutional environments shape the governance and economic behaviors of corporations and their agents.

RESEARCH

The Center encourages high quality research and has published research papers in leading international journals such as the International Review of Finance, the Journal of Accounting and Economics, the Journal of Accounting Research, the Journal of Corporate Finance, the Journal of Finance, and the Pacific-Basin Finance Journal.

The Center sponsors numerous ongoing research projects such as family firm succession in Asia, corruption and corporate finance in China, the market for auditors in China, the emergence of hierarchical organizational structure of Chinese business groups, political connections and the governance and performance of Chinese firms.

ACTIVITIES

To achieve the stated mission, the Center will (1) sponsor activities that help to build the needed infrastructures for high quality research, (2) provide a platform for scholarly exchanges of research results, and (3) intermediate knowledge transfer between researchers and business communities.

(1) Research infrastructure

The Center sponsors the creation of databases that lead to high quality research on important corporate governance issues.

(2) Scholarly exchanges

The Center sponsors scholarly networks and visits that facilitate research collaboration and hosts academic workshops and international conferences that promote quality research on corporate governance issues.

(3) Knowledge intermediation

The Center sponsors case studies and book projects that enrich education and training programs for business leaders and government policy makers. The Center provides consulting services and hosts workshops and forums that cater for business communities, policy-making bodies and business students.
